

Alfred T. Stanger Memorial Scholarship

Presented by: Greenscape Methods Charitable Foundation

The Alfred T. Stanger Memorial Scholarship is an annual award originating in 2018 to honor the remarkable life and contributions of Al Stanger in the game of golf. A self-made man, Al decided to build his own personal 18-hole golf course in 2005 at his cattle ranch in South Texas. The golf course at Wolf Point Ranch has received wide acclaim and was Al's pride and joy. Shortly after construction was completed Al formed a golf construction company, Greenscape Methods, with Don Mahaffey, Construction and Maintenance Superintendent for the golf course at Wolf Point Ranch. Al passed away in 2016, but the company he helped found remains and has established the Greenscape Methods Charitable Foundation to fund this scholarship in his memory. Al's encouragement and support was pivotal in Greenscape Methods' rise to success, and his contributions will never be forgotten.

The Scholarships will be awarded to students pursuing a career in Golf, whether it be designing, building, maintaining, or as a journalist with a special interest in Golf. It is our desire to help fund the education of students who love the game and will work to promote and protect the game of golf.
